
The landscape exposes churn that project-level net medians can conceal; fractions are descriptive, not compatibility or quality scores.